

“Why Am I Here? Answers from Judaism, Christianity, Islam, and Buddhism.”

“Being religious means asking passionately the question of the meaning of our existence and being willing to receive answers, even if the answers hurt.” — Paul Tillich

Join us for a candid, respectful dialogue between teachers from Judaism, Christianity, Islam and Zen Buddhism as we explore our commonalities and differences in regards to some of the important questions of human existence.

Format: Each of the four panelists will speak from the perspective of their own tradition on key questions of human existence. Then each panelist will respond to questions from the discussion moderators and audience.

Date & Time: Thursday, February 19, 2015, 7:00 - 9:00 PM.

For More Information: www.drdauidzuniga.com/dialogue.html

Panelists:

- Rabbi Amy Cohen of Temple Beth Shalom
- Pastor Tom Goodman of Hillcrest Baptist Church
- Shaykh Mohamed-Umer Esmail of the Nueces Mosque
- Dr. David Zuniga, Zen priest & Postdoctoral Fellow in clinical psychology (supervisee of Krista Jordan, Ph.D.)

The panel moderators: Dr. James Kraft of Huston-Tillotson University and religion journalist Eileen Flynn.

Location & Directions: King-Seabrook Chapel of Huston-Tillotson University, Austin, Texas.

- Travel approximately one mile East of I-35 on 7th Street, turn left on Chalmers Street, and park in the gravel parking lot in the middle of the first block. Then walk across Chalmers to the West Gate for the campus, walk right in front of the gymnasium and to the top of the hill. The King-Seabrook Chapel is at the top of the hill.